

Q1c) At each point of this assumed straight line, the electric field vectors are pointing on the y-direction. Thus, the field line that passes through the point $(0,0,0)$ must be a straight line along the y-axis. The field line will begin at the positive charge and finishes at the negative charge. We can visualize this vector field as such:

